RICH WOMAN RECLUSE SPENT YEARS AT HOTEL WATCHING BROADWAY

Miss Marshall, Aged Daughter of Stage Line Founder, Long Kept to Three Rooms.

Attached to the report of Transfer Tax Appraiser Ludden on the estate of Miss Caroline E. Marshall, filed yesterday, was an affidavit which shows that she, worth $241,062, lived for five years in the Hotel Wallick, where she spent her days viewing the gayety of Broadway from her window, without leaving her room.

daughter, Mrs. Mary L. Van Ness, to nephews and nieces and to charitable institutions.

The affidavit made by Joseph H. A. Symonds, attorney for the executrices of the will, says the decedent had been a recluse for many years. The three hotel rooms she occupied were piled high with trunks, wearing apparel, boxes, magazines and newspapers.

In a bureau drawer were found two certificates for New York Central Railroad stock; one for twenty-eight shares and the other for one share. Still another certificate for a single share was found in a pasteboard box. In another box filled with clothing was found a sum of money.

Among the strings of a piano was discovered a quantity of jewelry. Other gems were found in a box. A will dated in 1893 was discovered in Miss Marshall's safe deposit box. She was daughter of the founder of the old Fifth Avenue stage line and was over eighty years of age.

For Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Here in America there is much suffering from catarrh and head noises. American people would do well to consider the method employed by the English to combat this insidious disease. Every one knows how damp the English climate is, and how dampness affects those suffering from catarrh. In England they treat catarrhal deafness and head noises as a constitutional disease, and use an internal remedy for it that is really very efficacious.

Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick tell how they had their hearing restored by this English treatment to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven and eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know some one who is troubled with catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises, cut out this formula and hand it to them, and you will have seen the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be easily prepared at home for about 75c, and is made as follows: From your druggist obtain 1 oz. of Parmit (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home and add to it a pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take a tablespoonful four times a day. Parmit is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are usually remarkably quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form should give this recipe a trial and free themselves from this destructive disease.—Advt.
